Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 05 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Fairly cloudy overnight, some rain tomorrow afternoon.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some clear intervals this evening, although the Pennines will stay cloudy with some fog and occasional drizzle. Turning more generally cloudy for all overnight, with still the odd spot of drizzle, mainly on hills. Milder than recent nights. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:
Bright spells during the morning, but winds strengthening. Rain arriving for northwestern parts towards midday, spreading to all areas during the afternoon. Clearer skies and isolated showers will follow later. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Mostly dry and bright, but windy on Sunday. Remaining bright for most of Monday with lighter winds. Cloudier on Tuesday with patchy rain and brisk winds again.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.